Subject: Invitation

Good morning,

I am writing to invite a senior official from the EPA to speak to our seminar here at the National Defense University, March 14-24. The approximately 45 participants are foreign service and military officers from the Middle East and South Asia. Our goal is to educate them on the efforts the US government is making to protect the environment and any cooperation with foreign countries and let them draw lessons for their own countries.

I understand there will be change with the new administration, but we are interested in a speaker who can give the big picture. Would appreciate your response. Thanks.
